COMMERCE WEEK

Every year, commerce week is organized in our school in the last week of the Calendar Year conclude the program on the 31st of December on the “Eve of the New year day. This year also the Commerce Week went on in the same pattern. Mr. Athang Anil Jain, Director, Jain Farm Fresh Foods Ltd., wholly subsidiary of Jain Irrigation Systems Ltd., Jalgaon, inaugurated the event on the 26th of December, by unveiling the back drop, thus exposing the drawings and still models showing the “Urbanization of Indian Society since independence”, prepared by the Art and Commerce Department of Anubhuti. The 11th Grade Commerce Students, performed a skit on the rapid developments transforming rural India.

The second day’s program started with a “Nukkad” a traditional form of folk drama presentation titled ‘Pani Ke Rang’.

Khandesh Run

I have always been very interested in athletics, and my happiness found no boundary when we came to know that our names were included in an invitation for a 3 KM long distance run. All the class 9 to 12 students of our school participated in the “Marathon Run” on 3rd December. The format was of 21, 10, 5, 3 kms categories having different tracks and timings starting from The Khandesh Mill Compound.

On the day of the race, we woke up happy and excited early in the morning, went to dining hall and had some bananas and milk. Then we headed to Elephant Point and got into our bus. In high spirits we rode into the city. We got off at a certain distance from the designated place and walked the rest of the way.

As soon as we entered were fascinated by the ongoing warm up Zumba Dance. After the warming up session, we were all set ready to start the run. In a short while, it began bringing cheers to faces. The group of Anubhutians was very prominent among the crowd and could fetch attention of spectators.

We moved on as per the plan and unlike the majority of the crowd, we were strategically conserving our energy and were consistently moving on. Later during the final stretch of the run, we changed our mode and darted for the finish line. Our strategy worked; we could finish the race with good timings and were among the first few to collect the medals. It was, indeed a very thrilling and energising experience. That has boosted our spirits and morale multifold.

After the award ceremony, we had fun-filled leisure time. We were offered a delicious breakfast in the spurring lawn of the Khandesh Mill Compound. We rejoiced at our success of completing such a physically tasking run. All the athletes who participated danced together for a while to some music played in the background. As the music stopped after some thirty minutes, we got back into our bus and reached back to our campus.

Bhajan Sandhya: Bhaunche Udyan

Dadaji was a great patron of art, literature and music throughout his life. He loved to listen variety of music and was an extensive writer. Dadaji used to pen down his thoughts on various subjects along with having a penchant for folk-music.

In his remembrance on his death anniversary, our school organised a Bhakti Sangeet Sandhya at the Bhaunche Udyan. The choir group of Anubhuti, including me was all set ready to perform bhakti sangeet to pay our tribute to Dadaji. After the formal inauguration of the event, we offered selected classical songs that we had practised for the occasion. These were a few of his favourites which he used to listen often. The songs included a solo by my friend Aatman Chhajer ‘Mat kar maya ko ahankar’ written by Sant Kabir. Few of the impactful performances included the group songs ‘Barsan lagi badariya’, ‘Payoji maine ram ratan’ and ‘Mane chakar rakho ji’.

It was a humbling experience to sing songs and interact with people who had closely worked with Dadaji and had very fond memories of him. We also got motivational feedback from the audience. We happily returned back to our school. However, the songs lingered on my lips for the whole day.

New Year Celebration: COMMERCE WEEK

On the third day, all of us woke to a very cold morning, but it did not chill our vigor out. We attended the classes as usual and headed back to our dorms to dress up for the fun fair. After everyone was ready, we headed to the auditorium for the show highlights. It was so funny that all of were laughing during the entire show. After the show concluded we went to art block which was very beautifully decorated by team 'UNIMOS'. Athang and singing a lot of songs which we were crossing on our housie tickets the event finally came to an end. The memories that we made in this commerce week will continue to swirl in our heads forever.

- Dhruv Mehta, Class 10

Bhau inaugurated the fair by the ribbon cutting ceremony. I had a lot of fun playing the games in fun fair. I played almost every game and won in some too. After almost an hour and a half, we had a group photo and then headed to the lawn, where delicious and mouthwatering food awaited. After stuffing lots of garlic breads, cheese balls, pastry, mango mastani and many more things we finally stopped and proceeded towards the assembly hall. We settled down there and the Musical Housie began, hosted by team UNIMOS. After listening

International Conference: G.H. Rasoni Business School, Jalgaon

In the modern world which is full of marketing and commercialization, it is not easy to provide livelihood to unemployed people. India being a leading country in start-ups, has developed organizations which provide sustainable livelihood without causing much adverse effects on the environment. Apart from academics, in Anubhuti we students are exposed to real life situations and practical business with emphasis on ethics. This academic year two of us, Raghav Agrawal and I, from grade 12th got a chance to participate in an International Conference based on sustainability.

On 3rd of December, 2022 we were fully prepared and confident enough to present papers in front of the audience at Rasoni College, Jalgaon where the conference was held. There were altogether 20 more presentations. Our presentation was accepted with a very good round of applause, and eventually we were judged as first among all who presented their papers. We were awarded with a cash award of Rs.1000/-. The program started in the afternoon, ended up around 5:30 pm and we returned to our school with sweet memories of a good conference.

We are very thankful to our mentor Mr. Swagat Rath for guiding us to make an impactful presentation in the conference.

Benefits of reading books

Reading is a very good habit that one needs to develop in life. Good books can inform you, enlighten you and lead you in the right direction. There is no better companion than a good book. Reading is important because it is good for your overall well-being. Once you start reading, you experience a whole new world. When you start loving the habit of reading you eventually get addicted to it. Reading develops language skills and vocabulary. Reading books is also a way to relax and reduce stress.

I personally have developed the habit of reading books on a very regular basis. The library of our school is full of many wonderful and mind blowing books. As it is said "Don't judge a book by its cover" which is done by majority of the students in Anubhuti. Afraid of the length and breadth of the book, their fingers tremble to even pick out one. But I would love to break this myth and reveal an astonishing truth that the lengthiest books are the most awesome to read. I personally find short books to be a little bit boring than the long ones which many of us may think a bit weird but if you ask any other reader he will give you the same answer. I would love to suggest you all a few great books that I have read which might help you overcome the fear of fat books. The Hunger Games Trilogy, The Immortals of Meluha from the Shiva Trilogy, The Robert Langdon series consisting Angels and Demons, The Da Vinci Code, The Lost Symbol, Inferno and The Origin, A Thousand Splendid Suns and many books by Rick Riordan, All these books are available in our school library and extremely amazing to read. So without wasting any time go to the library and get yourselves a book to read.

Republic Day Celebration

The Republic Day of India falls on the 26th of January every year. This significant day is one of the most important day in the history of the nation as India had its constitution come into effect on this date. We got Independence in 1947, and the country started working towards setting up the Constitution. The Constitution set out the rules and regulations to run the country and India was declared a Republic Nation on 26th January 1950.

This year, in our school we celebrated this day with a sense of gratitude and respect towards our great leaders who sacrificed their life to make India a sovereign nation. As is the age old custom, our national flag was hoisted at exact time by our Chief Guest Shri. Nilkanthji Gaikwad. It was then succeeded by the national anthem and his speech subsequently. We further moved to assembly hall to attend a cultural program. The programme comprised patriotic songs, dance, inspirational speeches and prize distribution. The chief guest's words inspired us the most. He told us about how our Dadaji, the founder of our school, helped him with many social work. The day truly marked a feeling of oneness and patriotism among all of us.

Art Mela

Unlike any other event organized by the students of Anubhuti, Art Mela is a very special exhibition where the students of our school exhibit their art work. The hard work done by the students during the whole academic year is framed and displayed in 'Bhaunche Udyan' in the city of Jalgaon. The exhibition on 11th of March was inaugurated by Mr. Nitin Sonawane, a renowned artist, who was the chief guest of the event. Sau. Nisha Anil Jain, Director and Mr. Debasis Das, Principal represented Anubhuti School in the event. The event lasted for two days and many students of our school guided the visitors through all the art work which had been displayed on the walls.

The art work done by all the students was magnificent. Many artifacts were so fascinating that the visitors couldn't take their eyes off them.

There were multiple canvases, ceramic pieces including pots and sculptures, Linocut (print making) and many other wonderful works. Being an art student, I am very passionate towards my art work. I myself made a ceramic sculpture describing life on mountains and numerous pots and canvases. The ceramic sculptures made by my seniors were my favorite which included a phoenix made by Ananya and the candle March sculpture made by Yashasvi. The Art Mela was indeed one of the most fascinating exhibitions that I have ever participated in. It has truly helped me as an art student and I hope to see much more wonderful artists from our school and magnificent art work in the next academic year.

Student interns from Nebraska University: Experience Sharing

Our names are Lilly Holtuus, Cailey Davis, Tessa Varney and we are students at the university of Nebraska, Lincoln in Nebraska, United States. We are currently pursuing undergraduate degrees in child, youth and family studies which we plan to utilize in our future careers in social work and health care. We are currently completing an internship in the Anubhuti Residential and Anubhuti English Medium School as a way to broaden our perspectives of the educational opportunities for children around the world, while also gaining a new appreciation for a different culture and way of life.

We have been in India for almost a month now, and our time here has been nothing short of amazing. Both Anubhuti Residential and Anubhuti English Medium School have greeted us with open arms and have already given us memories that will last a lifetime. In our first week of being here, we were able to experience India's Republic Day with students from both schools. It was great to have a first-hand view of some of the traditions and ceremonies that take place to honour this beautiful country, and how they vary from those in our country. At Anubhuti Residential, we have been able to participate in 'Sports Day' and cheer on the students in their track events, Best luck gathering for standards 10 and 12 and even learnt lessons of pottery & clay art with the help of teachers and students. At Anubhuti English Medium School, we have been able to observe in the classroom, teach different lessons and activities to the students, and participate in parent-teacher interactions which allowed us to broaden our understanding of some of the families that live in Jalgaon and the varying lifestyles. As our time here continues, we are anxiously awaiting some of the upcoming festivals and activities so we can learn even more about the culture of the schools and of India.

The relationships that we are building here are also making our stay much comfortable and more enjoyable. The teachers at both schools have gone out of their way to make us feel welcome and we appreciate the lessons we are learning and the laughter we are sharing with each and every one. The students have also been a joy to be around, especially at Anubhuti Residential School since we are getting the opportunity to live with them. Each of us treasures the after-dinner chats, the walks around the campus, and of course, movie nights! We know these friendships will continue to build throughout our time here and we look forward to the many more memories that are going to be created. We thank everyone involved in our experiences so far, for truly making it a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity.

Duswidaniya: Farewell Function

Don't cry that it's over, smile because it happened. Same thing I told again and again to myself when I was getting ready to attend this function. A function that brings tears in your eyes, memories in your mind and pining in your heart. I realised how difficult it is to say goodbye to a place you lived in longer than your home, made memories with your friends and spent the most enjoyable as well as unforgettable time of your life. Anubhuti School has become that place for me. I have spent seven golden years of my life in this place.

The farewell proceedings started on that serene evening with a group photo with respected Ashok Bhau. All the class X and XII students had turned up in their sartorial elegance in their vibrant attires. Later, we made a highly spirited entry into the assembly hall as soon as we finished our photo shoot. We received a grand welcome and tilak on our forehead by our affectionate juniors. The event started and it was beset with dance, emotional speeches, good wishes, fun-games, mementos, lot of photos and what not.

The enchanting evening concluded with a special dinner served to us by our juniors. The day ended well with a lot of special moments and fond memories. It is truly said that it's not the farewell that hurts but the flashback that follows. We will leave our beloved Anubhuti campus with a lot of sweet memories and life-changing inspirations. At last, I would like to thank all my juniors of class 9 and 11 who made this day a memorable one. With all the good luck that we got from the whole Anubhuti family, we promise that we will become successful in our life and make you all proud.

Annual Sports Meet 2023

Sports Day 2023 was organized on 4th February. It comprised a lot of events. The programme began at 9am. We all were waiting impatiently for the guest to arrive. Soon the Chief Guest Shri. Ashok Bhau Jain, Chairman, Jain Irrigation Systems Ltd, arrived and was warmly welcomed by Anubhuti Team. Further, he was led by the school band and escorted by the officials and students to the stage. Later, Mr. Athang Jain and Mr. Abhang Jain, both grand children of Dadaji also joined the gathering. Shri. Ashok Bhau hoisted the School Flag and announced the event open. Afterwards they lit the lamp for the Mashal Run to begin which was followed by felicitation of the group captains. There were four houses (Yellow, Red, Blue and Green). With the permission of our chief guest, the Parade and drill began. Soon the events started category wise where in Group A of class 5 to 7, Group B of Class 8 and 9, and Group C of class 10 to 12 were participating.

After conducting a few events such as 100m race, balance race, sack race, we had the medal distribution ceremony of the field events which were hosted two days prior to the sports day. Some of the field events were discuss throw, long jump, standing long jump, and short put. Further few more events like 200m race, 400m race and 200m hurdle race happened. The last two events, relay race and tug of war were the most awaited events, as these were group events and required strength and team spirit. We enjoyed a lot, though it was exhausting but memorable.

After getting done with all the events, we danced and enjoyed the day to the fullest. Later we headed towards dining hall for lunch by 2pm. By this time we all were exhausted and drained out. We reached our dorm and fell on our bed to sound sleep.

Farewell

Sports Day

Science Day Celebration

28th of February was a very special day for us, as it was "Science Day". Although science day was in February's end but the preparation started months ago. All of us were waiting eagerly for that day. Although our exams were also starting from 3rd of March but with the help of our teachers we were able to manage our time properly without disturbing our academics. A day or two before the science day we all were wondering upon how will our project be. The thought which was constantly disturbing me was that will my project be better than others or will the guest like it. Finally the day came for which we were waiting for and we all were excited about it. We started to shift our projects to the assembly hall, to the stall which was allotted to us. There were a lot of projects made by students of classes 5th to 9th and 11th. The projects covered many concepts of science. All the four walls of the assembly hall were covered with the tent and in both the sides, the tent was divided into different compartments where we set up our stalls. Now the program started. Many students and teachers came to our stall and we explained our projects to them. Then the Chief Guest, Mr. Ajit Bhau Jain, Managing Director, Jain Irrigation Systems Ltd, Jalgaon started to visit each stall and I got a little nervous but when it was my turn, I just did it very well.

After the lunch there was a quiz organised by our school and we invited some other schools to participate in it. This quiz was managed by Venu Gopal sir, Sukhanya Akka and Jyoti Akka. The quiz was very interesting and I collected a lot of knowledge from it. There was also a prize for the winner and the runner ups.

On the second day we again arranged our stalls and we were ready with our projects, today the local parents were going to come to see our projects. This time we were less nervous and we were prepared as we did it once. There were a lot of parents and they were very excited to see the projects made by the children and it went very well

Interaction with Michael Warren Sonnleitner

On 6th February 2023, Professor Warren Sonnleitner visited Anubhuti and interacted with the students and teachers for about two hours. Mr. Sonnleitner has been a Professor for forty years in the Portland Community College under the University of Minnesota. He had his PhD in Political Science and has been greatly influenced by Mahatma Gandhi and his non-violent movement. He, while interacting with us, said that he hasn't yet become a Gandhian though he very much cherished to be, and has to go a long way to be one. He reminded us the importance of Gandhi and his ways in the modern era. The interaction with him took place in the auditorium of the school.

While narrating his experience of his youth, as an undergraduate student of 19 years, he emphasized the importance of patience while dealing with volatile situations. He said while he and two of his friends (girls) were moving to attend some get-together nearby their college, they were stopped by four furious men. They started picking up a quarrel with them, using abusive language and insulting the ladies. Mr. Warren lost his temper and reacted angrily to the four gangsters. One of the gangsters pointed his gun at Warren's head, threatened to shoot him at point blank range.

A judicious and timely intervention by one of the girls cooled up the situation and they were thus saved from a very grave situation. Had the girl not intervened with patience then; he wouldn't have been living to interact with us in 2023, at the age of 73. As a student of Thomas J Watson, back in 1971-72, he had visited India as part of his course of studies and travelled throughout India. He met and interviewed personally the veteran Gandhians, like Vinoba Bhave, Morarji Desai, Jayaprakash Narayan and others who had lived and worked with Mahatma Gandhi.

He also, in his address, mentioned about the economic empowerment of women, sustainable development, Swadeshi & Swaraj movements, Moksha concept, Satyagraha etc. Which, Gandhi emphasized as the necessary aspect of freedom of any country like India along with the political independence. This interaction was interesting, absorbing and a great eye opener to us.

IMS International Conference

On 4th of January, I along with my teammates Keshavdas Agrawal, Rishi Manuja, Hardik Jain and our teacher coordinator Mr. Swagat Kumar Rath presented a research paper titled "B2B ENTREPRENEURSHIP FIRMS TO REMOVE BARRIERS TO NEW VENTURES IN INDIA". In this research paper we tried to inculcate the new startups which are supporting the b2b business sector to grow in India. After our research work we came to know that there are more than 2500 startups which are helping b2b startups in India.

According to a report by NetApp and Zinnov, there are over 4,200 B2B tech Start-ups in India, 63% of which are working on enterprise technology in the BFSI, healthcare, retail, and automotive verticals. The young generation is more enthusiastic about becoming job givers than job seekers. Despite all this government support and hand-holding, the entrepreneurs are facing a lot of issues as they are not versatile enough in each segment of their start-up ventures. As it was an online conference at 10 in the morning we attended the validator function by the conference proceedings. We presented our paper and it was appreciated by the chairman Dr. Dilip Chavan sir. The second group which presented the paper was titled as post covid practice back to the chair. Basically in this paper they told about HR practices which were taking place in the post covid period and the differences in the practice by HR department in selection procedures. The group consisted of Ved Patidar, Hemant Agrawal, Mahi Vadiya, Pranshu Tayal and the teacher coordinator Mr. Swagat Kumar Rath sir.

Both of the papers were appreciated by the INSTITUTE OF MANAGEMENT AHMEDNAGAR. Both of the papers taught us something new and it was truly a great experience in participating in an international conference.

Thoughts and Talks Series

First Session- Director, Anubhuti Residential School

It all started from a class room discussion with Daniel sir about having an interaction with our Director, Mrs. Nisha Anil Jain. He considered making it more interesting, kind of like a talk show. In his next class, he asked us to come up with some other name for this talk show and after thinking a little I was able to come up with the name, "Thoughts and Talks".

academics. Then it was the day of the talk show and it went very well. We got to many things about the director, like about her education, her perspective about the boarding schools, her thoughts about India, her learnings from her life and many more. She also shared the whole story that how Dadaji got the idea of building this school and giving her the charge of the entire campus by making her the director.

It was very interesting for everyone to get to know

The show was scheduled on the 4th March after the program of Holi. I and my friend Aarav were selected to ask the questions and Aatman was there for the intro and the conclusion of the show. We sat together the night before the interaction for two hours or so and came up with a set of questions and the intro. The next day we spent some time in preparation without disturbing our about our school and our director. I was inspired a lot by her thoughts and her perspective about life. I was wondering if I could live my life with such clarity. It is my privilege to get an opportunity to study in this school and get the chance to interact with our inspiring Director.

Second Session with Nebraska Interns

The next session of 'Thoughts and Talks' show was on Holi and this time we were having it with the Americans, Lily, Cailey and Tessa. We were a bit more at ease as this was our second time and we had a better idea about how it would go. This time Tanmay and Tanish were given the chance for introduction and conclusion and I & Aarav remained the same. We again prepared it on the night before and framed all our questions in a proper way.

The show was scheduled on the 7th March, at the time of enrichment, therefore we all gathered in the auditorium after the classes, waiting for the Americans. As they entered, I saw that they already had a slight taste of Holi because their clothes were already filled with colours. A few minutes later, as they got settled down and were nicely introduced to the audience by Tanish, we started the show. It went on very well and we got to know about their culture and in what way it was different from India. They also shared stories about their childhood and how they were brought up by their parents. It felt very nice when they were sharing their experience of India, exploring different cultures and practices, meeting people and enjoying the food. Then it was concluded by Tanmay and we all said goodbye to them as they were leaving the day after.

Third Session- Armed Forces Recruits

This was the most recent 'Thoughts and Talks' session. It happened on the 18th March. It was with two people who cleared their entrance exams and were selected for the army. One of them got selected in the technical section of the army, his name is Rakesh Vangara. The other one was selected as a pilot, her name was Sanchita Singh. It was a little different from the other two sessions in two ways. First, it was with the people who we didn't know and second, it happened online.

However the preparation was quite similar. It was an amazing experience to interact with the people who were selected for the armed forces and they were very inspiring. They shared their experience about the preparation of the entrance exam and the interview. They also shared with us all the challenges which they faced while preparing for the exam. The interaction helped a lot to students who were willing to write the same and also encouraged some to pursue it.

Industrial Visit

On the evening of 23rd February, we found out that next morning we were going on an industrial visit to “Vikas Cooperative Society”. Swagat sir briefed us about the cooperative society and some information about the milk processing unit. I and all my friends were very excited and impatiently waiting for the next day. On 24th we attended our morning assembly and then boarded our school bus at 9 am to begin with the journey. We were guided and accompanied by Swagat sir and Ashok sir. It took us around 20 minutes to reach Vikas. After reaching the production center of Vikas, we realized that we were a bit early and had at least an hour before we enter the factory. So we decided to play some games in the garden and had fun. After Some time, one of the employees of the company came to guide us through the unit. Before entering the factory he gave us some information about the company. Vikas is a very well-known cooperative society which sells around 1.5 to 2 lakh liters of milk every day.

Right after entering the factory, the first thing we saw was the laboratory where the milk was tested before collection, it was totally automatic. Then we saw the packaging of milk into different quantities. They pack around 1.5 lakh litres per day which they sell in both B to B (Business to Business) and B to C (Business to Consumers) markets. Then we went into a room where they washed the tray with hot water and caustic soda, in which they supply the milk packets to different distributors. We also saw the production of dahi, lassi, shrikhand, butter, flavored milk, paneer and milk powder too. They use redundant milk to make milk powder. There were two cold storages with very low temperatures of -7 and -9 degrees. In the end we saw a section where the production and packaging of Ghee was taking place. After exiting the factory we all were offered very delicious cups of shrikhand which was produced in Vikas. All the students took their cup and sat in the bus. We departed from the factory and reached the school at 12.30 pm.

It was one of the best experiences that I have ever had and it was only possible because of Swagat Sir and Ashok Sir. I was able to gain a lot of knowledge about the production process of different products and the distribution process too. It was truly a very wonderful and memorable experience ever.

It was my first Ugadi celebration in Anubhuti. The teacher who took the responsibility of making this day grand and memorable was Durga Prasad Sir who we lovingly address as D.P. Sir. He briefed us about the elaborate preparation that he had envisioned for the day. On 21st March, seven teachers and three students went to Jain Hills to collect fresh seasonal mango leaves and raw mangoes. We came back with a tractor full of leaves that was to be used to decorate our dining hall all around. In the same spirit all the wherewithal was collected and brought to the dining hall. The preparation started.

Many students were involved but mainly 11th science and 9th class students were at the helm. Boys prepared Toran from mango leaves and girls prepared garlands. More than one hundred and fifty pieces were made to festoon the hall. Jyotishwari akka too guided us with that. We were delighted and were deeply engrossed in the preparation. We finished the decoration around mid-night.

Next morning, I, along with some other students woke up early, took bath and went to dining hall to give the final touch to our decoration. It was over by 10.30 am. Immediately we plunged ourselves in the preparation of lunch. The menu was a lavish spread of traditional cuisine. The items included Pochadi, Pongal, poornam, mango daal, mango rice, banana bhajiya, dahi Mirchi, smabhar and pickles. It looked beautiful, grand and was scrumptious. Once the items were served on a plantain leaf, D.P. Sir chanted some very pertinent shlokas before we all took the first bite. Every student ate to his maximum capacity.

Admiring the taste and doing the comparative discussion of different dishes we all came out of dining hall. The lunch finished in half an hour, but the taste lingered on our tongue forever.

Flora – Jasmine

Jasminum sambac (Arabian jasmine or Sambac jasmine) is a species of jasmine native. It is a small shrub or vine growing up to 0.5 to 3 m (1.6 to 9.8 ft.) in height. It is widely cultivated in many places, especially across much of South and Southeast Asia for its attractive and sweetly fragrant flowers. The flowers may be used as a fragrant ingredient in perfumes and jasmine tea. It has been commonly cultivated as an ornamental plant throughout the world. Jasmine blooms throughout the summer and continuously in warm climates. The fruits are small black berries, but are seldom formed in cultivation.

Fauna – Asian Koel

The Asian koel (Eudynamys scolopaceus) is a member of the cuckoo order of birds, the Cuculiformes. It is found in the Indian Subcontinent, China, and Southeast Asia. It forms a superspecies with the closely related black-billed koels, and Pacific koels which are sometimes treated as subspecies. The Asian koel like many of its related cuckoo kin is a brood parasite that lays its eggs in the nests of crows and other hosts, who raise its young. They are unusual among the cuckoos in being largely frugivorous as adults. The name koel is echoic in origin with several language variants. The bird is a widely used symbol in Indian and Nepali poetry.

A Message From The Editors

This 31st December marked the beginning of the year 2023 and we hope that this year will be a prosperous one for our school and all the students. We, the editors wish you all a very happy new year and we pray that god will bless us all with his knowledge, strength and prosperity. And since we all know that the board exams of our students of class 10 and 12 are approaching, we wish them good luck and hope that they pass the exams with flying colours.
